They are used by our web developers to help you navigate the Platform efficiently and perform certain functions. Due to their core role of enhancing and enabling usability or site processes, disabling cookies may affect the efficacy of (certain parts of) the Platform.

The cookies we use are categorized into 4 types:

- Strictly necessary cookies. These cookies are required for the operation of our Platform. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our Platform. Without these cookies, services you have asked for cannot be provided.
- Performance cookies. These cookies collect information about how users use our Platform, for example which pages are visited or to identify errors. These cookies help us to improve the way the Platform works and do not collect information that identifies a user. The information these cookies collect is aggregated and therefore anonymous. Please note that third parties (including, for example, providers of external services like web traffic analysis services) may have placed performance cookies on our Platform.
- Functionality cookies. These cookies allow the Platform to remember choices you make (such as your user name, language or your region) and provide enhanced, more personal features. Where applicable, these cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, fonts and other parts of web pages that you can customise. The information these cookies collect may be anonymised and they cannot track your browsing activity on other websites.
- Tracking cookies. These cookies collect information about your browsing habits and interests in order to make advertising relevant to you. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advertisement and help measure the effectiveness of the advertising campaigns. They are usually placed by advertising networks with the website operator’s permission. They remember that you have visited a website and this information is shared with other organisations such as advertisers.
